

{rokbox title=|Managing EU fisheries in the public interest :: New Economics Foundation|
thumb=|images/stories/ieo/multimedia/documentos/centro-oceanografico-baleares-managing-eu-fisheries-in-the-public-interest-nef-2015-thumb.jpg|images/stories/ieo/multimedia/documentos/centro-oceanografico-baleares-managing-eu-fisheries-in-the-public-interest-nef-2015.jpg{/rokbox}}

Managing EU fisheries in the public interest

Managing EU fisheries in the public interest . © March 2015 New Economics Foundation.
ISBN 978-1-90850-77-1

Abstract: For too long, overfishing has cost Europe millions in lost landings, profits and jobs. Quotas and subsidies have been allocated to fleets regardless of their economic, social or environmental performance. The reformed Common Fisheries Policy, in force since 2014, is an opportunity for change. But change will not happen without action from member states.